DETAILED ACTION

1. Amendment filed May 2, 2006 has been entered and fully considered. Original claims 1-13,15-22, and amended claim 14 are currently pending. The rejections are as stated below.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

3. Claims 1-22 stand rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Martin, U.S. Patent No. 6,330,547, in view of Wilkinson, U.S. Patent Application Publication No. 2002/0099637, as cited in the previous Office Action.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 1-22 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

5. In regards to Applicant's argument that the rejection of claim 1 under 35 U.S.C. 103 is improper, Examiner respectfully disagrees. Examiner acknowledges Applicant's citation of Martin (column 1 lines 35-43), but is of the opinion that the cited reference merely teaches the shortcomings both of conventional methods of debt financing and conventional methods of capital investing. While Martin does teach the differences of the two conventional methods, no where does Martin teach away from the invention being used as a tool for capital investing, but merely teaches away from old and well known methods which the invention of Martin overcomes.

6. Furthermore, in regards to Applicant's arguments that Martin and Wilkinson fail to teach an investment, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

Examiner has given the claim language its broadest reasonable interpretation. Barron's Dictionary of Finance and Investment Terms defines "investment" as "the use of capital to create more money." Examiner has interpreted the claim language to include a loan as an investment because the loaner receives interest on the loan, thus creating more money from capital. The references, in combination, teach each and every limitation of claim 1, without reading limitations from the specification into the claim language.

7. In response to applicant's arguments against the references individually, one cannot show nonobviousness by attacking references individually where the rejections are based on combinations of references. See In re Keller, 642 F.2d 413, 208 USPQ 871 (CCPA 1981); In re Merck & Co., 800 F.2d 1091, 231 USPQ 375 (Fed. Cir. 1986).

8. Regarding applicant's argument against the rejections of claims 4, 6, 8, 11-13, 15, 16 and 19 because Examiner has provided no references, and that there is therefore no suggestion or motivation to combine with Martin or other references, Examiner maintains that the limitations within the cited claims were properly rejected as being common knowledge well-known in the art of financial lending. To adequately traverse such a finding, an applicant must specifically point out the supposed errors in the examiner's action, which would include stating why the noticed fact is not considered to be common knowledge or well-known in the art. See 37 CFR 1.111(b). See also Chevenard, 139 F.2d at 713, 60 USPQ at 241 ("[I]n the absence of any demand by appellant for the examiner to produce authority for his statement, we will not consider this contention."). A general allegation that the claims define a patentable invention without any reference to the examiner's assertion of official notice would be inadequate. (MPEP 2144.03(C)).

Conclusion

9. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
